DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings have not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the figures.

Specification

3. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Election/Restrictions

4. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I, drawn to a first data transfer circuit embodiment, characterized by transferring only an inverted output of a first latch result from a first latch section to a second latch section (e.g., see Figure 4; Page 15, Lines 1-8 of the Specification).

Species II, drawn to a second data transfer circuit embodiment, characterized by transferring only a non-inverted output of a first latch result from a first latch section to a second latch section (e.g., see Page 15, Lines 1-8 of the Specification).

Species III, drawn to a third data transfer circuit embodiment, characterized by transferring both an inverted output and a non-inverted output of a first latch result from a first latch section to a second latch section (e.g., see Figure 2; Page 4, Lines 15-23 of the Specification).

The sub-species are as follows:

Sub-Species A, drawn to a first embodiment, wherein the data transfer circuit is applied to a TFT liquid crystal which comprises a display section and the like formed on a glass substrate (c.g., see Page 15, Lines 9-19 of the Specification).

Sub-Species B, drawn to a second embodiment, wherein the data transfer circuit is applied to a Continuous Grain Silicon liquid crystal display apparatus (c.g., see Page 15, Lines 9-19 of the Specification).

Sub-Species C, drawn to a third embodiment, wherein the data transfer circuit is applied to an Electro Luminescence display apparatus (c.g., see Page 15, Lines 9-19 of the Specification).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

5. The claims are deemed to potentially correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species I-A.

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species I-B.

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species I-C.

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species II-A.

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species II-B.

Claims 1 and 3 are deemed to potentially correspond to Species II-C.

No claims are deemed to potentially correspond to Species III-A.

No claims are deemed to potentially correspond to Species III-B.

No claims are deemed to potentially correspond to Species III-C.

The following claims appear to arguably be generic: none.

6. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Any international application must relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (see MPEP 1850).

As demonstrated by the “Y” references on the International Search Report, at least one independent claim of the application does not avoid the prior art, therefore, the special technical feature of the application is anticipated by or obvious in view of the prior art.

Consequently, the inventions listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

7. Moreover, the species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
